Peace Talks Were Called Off at Noon; Workers Stream From Two Fronts

DETROIT, May 5 (AP)—A wave of 65,000 workers struck the Ford Motor Co. plant here today, the largest walkout in the history of the auto industry. The strike was called by the United Auto Workers union, which said it was protesting against the company's refusal to accept a new contract for better wages and working conditions.

No Disorder

The strike was called off at noon today, but workers streamed from the plant in two fronts. The company said it was not interested in negotiations at the moment.

Speed Up Charge

Mother, Expecting Triplets, Gives Birth to Quadruplets

NEW YORK, May 5 (AP)—The new mother of the Collins family—four of them—were doing nicely today.

That was the report from the hospital where Mrs. Ethel Collins gave birth to four babies.

The babies weighed a total of 17 pounds and 15 ounces at birth.

Mrs. Collins had been expecting triplets. When she learned she was having four, she was surprised.

The father, Charles Collins, 39, a brokerage office clerk, got the news by telephone. His comment was, "My how wonderful."

Quadruplets occur about once in every 676,000 births. An average of three sets a year are born in the United States.

The babies, placed in incubators, were put on diet of agar and water with 10 per cent sugar.

Further Easing Of Living Costs Now Forecast

Country Still In Healthy Disinflation Period

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP)—President Truman's top economic adviser forecast today a further easing of the cost of living.

Dr. Edwin T. Nourse, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors, said "we are still in a period of healthy disinflation."

Nourse and fellow members of the council called at the White House to give their monthly report to Mr. Truman on the economic picture.

The written report to the President was not made public, but Nourse told reporters some of the main points in it. He said he expected some further easing in the cost of living.

Nourse said the cost of living in March was 12 per cent below the peak of August 1948, but that there was a slight uptick in April.

He said production is down from the December peak that unemployment is down to a 3.6 per cent level from a top unemployment of 12.2 in February.

Prices continue downward, but not on a demoralized basis, Nourse went on to say. He said the public could expect declines in pork prices, although beef prices likely will go up.

Assessing the country's situation in a period of healthy disinflation, he said, "We haven't fallen out of bed yet on anything."

We still have it in our power to make postwar readjustments and prevent a collapse," Nourse declared.

But he declared that in the whole underlying conditions are strong and added, "We don't want any joggling for our relief."

He attributed a drop in production in part to the scaling down of inventories, that is the tendency of businessmen to cut down on stocks at a time when prices seem to be easing.

Nourse said members of the council have had some differences with other members of the council over policy matters.

With that in mind a reporter asked if he intended to leave the council. Nourse replied "no."

4 Powers Announce Agreement

Blockades of Berlin To End May 12; United States Will Continue Airlift

By John M. Hightower

WASHINGTON, May 5—(AP)—The Russian blockade of Berlin will be lifted May 12 under a big four agreement announced today.

The western powers' counter blockade of the Soviet zone of Germany will be ended at the same time.

The Council of Foreign Ministers will meet in Paris May 23 to consider questions relating to Germany, and problems arising out of the situation in Berlin, including also the question of currency in Berlin.

The four power communiqué, circulating more than two months of intense negotiation, was issued simultaneously in Moscow, London, Paris and Washington—as well as in New York where the Berlin deal was worked out at the headquarters of the United Nations.

Display of Harmony

The document was an extraordinary display of harmony a year more than a year of tension and conflict sometimes marked by fears of actual war.

At the same hour the brief statement was made public, a copy was handed to Trygve Lie, United Nations secretary general.

He also was given a letter from the western powers asking him to advise the U. N. Security Council that the agreement has been reached among the four powers regarding the blockade.

The official statement itself marks the beginning of the end of one of the most critical situations in the postwar struggle between Russia and the western powers.

By The Associated Press

Total Soviet land blockade of Berlin imposed June 24, 1948. Allied counter blockade imposed July 2, 1948.

Cost in lives 27 American airmen, 22 British airmen. Cost in planes 18 American, British figures unavailable.

Cost in money $173,000,000 for the American side, millions of pounds on the British side. The exact figure unspecified yet.

Supplies carried in more than 1,500,000 tons in approximately 180,000 flights. Biggest day April 10, 1949: 17,000 tons.

Scheduled date for lifting of blockade and counterblockade: May 12, 1949.

A Week of Preparation

It will require the full week from now to May 12 to make the complicated arrangements for resuming the flow of goods and heavy traffic between Germany's first city and the western occupied zone.

But while the desperate necessity for the airlift now will be at an end, officials made plain the need for a steady flow of supplies to Berlin.

In Berlin the returning American military governor, Gen. Lucius D. Clay said he expects the aerial operation to continue until the western portion of the German city is supplied with at least 200,000 tons of supplies. That would mean about one month.

Even then the planes and men in all probability will be kept under standby orders.

Airlift An Insurance

The continued operation of the airlift as a sort of insurance against the possibility that the approaching regulations for a return of goods to Germany might be delayed.

Actually, the insurance authority, because this possibility is not because they believe the Russian have suffered a first class defeat in the battle for Berlin.

But for a reason that has been stated, the airlift is a necessary step to adopt conditions that would be a step toward the end of the Soviet blockade announced today.

They Were All Honest

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., May 5 (AP)—The early old Greek philosopher, searched all over the place for an honest man. He should have gone to Rutgers.

"I found a telephone booth. I'm a phone booth."

At last report, the dollar bill was still there.

But, My Deah, it Was Cissy's!

It's Only a Second-Hand Wardrobe . . .
So Capital Society, Outshouts and Outbids the Old Clothes Men

With a gleam in her eye, Washington society woman Mrs. J. F. McPherson takes a good look at part of the wardrobe of the late Eleanor (Cissy) Patterson before the bidding begins.

By Douglas Larsen
SEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON. The second-hand clothes business is again in the hot spot, capital society over, one of the amazing women's wardrobe is being assembled under the hammer.

And the old clothes men came off a poor record. They not only were outbid by the ladies' outshouts, but they were outbids.

It was the auction of all the clothes of the late and fabulous Eleanor Roosevelt, Patterson, millionaire newspaper publisher, party-giver and one of Washington's most colorful characters for more than 50 years.

What a racket the second-hand dealers are setting up.

Not a very fine auctioneer, but one of Cissy's gowns and shoes for doing there was a lot of money.

When Cissy was one that it was a game for her 10 years ago the G.O.P. to have it.

At the time the Senator and I were in her house, she had that on her mind the bidding habit she had picked up in her gray mare.

Kidskin Accents White

Stark white kidskin which can be wiped free of smudges makes practical and smart accessories for summer prints. Pictured against a background of flowering trees, the model wears a white glazed kidskin coat and carries an umbrella sheathed in more of the leather. Snowy suede kid hat has a cuffed crown and navy veil. Swirled strips of kid caught with colored bands form the stamp of platform sandals. Drawstring carry-all of white crushed kid is lined with bright India print.

By Espie Rhoad
NBA Fashion Writer

NEW YORK—Blue Monday will be a rosier day for women in white this summer, thanks to white kidskin.

This lady's leather which can put its stark white accent on print, costumes all along the line from hats to shoes can be kept clean by wiping off smudges with a damp cloth. The softness and flexibility of kidskin has made it a designer's choice for the immaculate white coat which is this summer's favorite topper for the bright print dress.

Decades making smart coats, kidskin makes hats which can be kept as spotless. Hats of white leather look as feminine as hats of straw and take as nicely to veils, chin ties, buttons and bows.

The umbrella sheaths that rarely dares to take white because of the hazards of handling can take it in white kidskin. So can handbags and shoes. When used for smartly-styled shoes, the porous quality of white leather is also a promise of more summer comfort for feet.

Indiet Woman Over Slaying

HENRYETTA, Okla., May 8 — (AP) An Oklahoma county grand jury Wednesday indicted Mrs. Ann Willard, 50, on a charge of murdering D. C. Callcutt, 60, in her bedroom.

Meanwhile, Sheriff Jim Kirby announced a new development with the finding of a bullet under the Willard house.

Kirby announced investigation showed Callcutt was shot once after being stuffed into a pantry in Mrs. Willard's home. After a careful search Wednesday officers found the bullet under the house near the pantry.

Mrs. Willard had told police she awoke to find Callcutt partially dressed in her bedroom last Friday. She said he threatened her if she did not marry him and pulled a gun.

Callcutt—the woman's partner in a restaurant here—was shot in the struggle for the gun. The divorcee told police that after she shot Callcutt twice she stuffed his body in a pantry and went to work. It was at 11 p. m. Friday that she informed officers of the shooting.

County and state officers also searched the Willard house for a second bullet the divorcee said she fired while on the bed. Everything in the bedroom was taken apart without success.

Callcutt had two bullet holes in his head. Held for questioning, are Mrs. Willard's brother, Paul Brunk, 37, and a former cook at the restaurant, Buddy Smith, 21.

Hopefully Await Blockade End

Bentonite, The Blotter

Fine Clay Dust Plugs Dams, Paints Legs and Gives South Dakota Town a Big New Industry

By NEA Service
BELLE FOURCHE, S. D. — If your dam starts leaking, send for a truckload of bentonite. Grand Coulee once was saved from serious damage that way.

If every pair of stockings you possess is ruined by runs and the bridge club has begun to arrive, you can paint on a reasonable facsimile, thanks to bentonite.

It will absorb enormous quantities of water; if six teaspoonfuls off and take up a full glass of water, that batch isn't worth using. It will jell, dry out, jell again, dry out again, time after time after time.

At the end of 64 such cycles, it still was jelling and drying as well as it did from the first. It sticks to beat the band. And it swells to beat the band.

Bentonite is a very particular kind of clay dust so fine that it takes almost 25,000 specks, laid end to end, to reach an inch.

It is found only in a small area in this neighborhood and Belle Fourche is the principal shipping point for the several companies that mine and process it.

It is good for teeth, because it sticks to the surface, after the tooth paste presumably is washed off and forms a protective coating against decay germs. It is used in leg paint, other cosmetics, calamine, liquid shoe polishes and many liquid preparations because it stays in suspension without settling to the bottom and requiring to be shaken too vigorously before using.

It will make bread stay fresh for several days, but hasn't found favor yet for such use because it is a mineral and indigestible.

Training School Escapees Back

BOONVILLE, Mo., May 5—(AP)—Three escapees from the State Training School surrendered on Wednesday after returning $57 and a pistol they had taken from Jimmy Bolton, dairyman at the institution.

They escaped Monday night and about the same time Bolton's residence was entered and the money and the pistol taken.

It said the writers were "sorry" and added they were going "to turn ourselves in." The youths surrendered at the main building a short time later.

The state highway patrol identified them as Charles Carper, LaBelle, and Robert McGathery and Jack Newman, of Kansas City, all 19 years old.

Jews 'Vanish' in Eastern Europe

Hitler's gas chambers and the post-war exodus to Israel have stripped eastern Europe of most of its estimated 5,000,000 pre-war Jewish population. By the end of this year less than 600,000 will remain in the "iron curtain" countries. This map gives the country-by-country figures with emigration-to-Israel quotas.

Black Cat Really is Unlucky

The Persian cat, right, belonged to Mrs. James Wright, of Greenfield, Ind., was jet black and got the worst of the blue eyes. Reaching for the household camera, the cat pulled the bird's nose from its manger. At the same time a flower pot fell, sending the cat scurrying for cover. It was several hours before the frightened tabby was found. In a few days the black cat began to turn white, then, as seen in lower picture, came a gradual overall graying.

It's one of the many modern paintings and sculpture pieces on display at the 16th art exhibition of the Society of Independent Artists in Paris. Another head-scratcher in the show is the surrealist figure called "Musician," right.

Concentrate on Bringing Back Hands And Arms; Everything Else Follows Naturally, Easily

By Gene Sarazen
Winner of Taking All
If you start taking it apart, the swing can be very complicated. So concentrate on bringing back your hands and arms. Everything else will follow naturally and easily.

The first movement is with the hands and arms. Keeping the left arm semi-rigid, and the right elbow fairly close to the body, bring the club straight back till there is a pull on the arm.

Don't cock the wrists. At the top of your swing the weight of the club will cock the wrists for you. The back of the left hand starts the downswing, controls it all the way through.

When the hands are within striking range, there will be a natural snap of the wrists. The speed of the clubhead catching up with the hands, which are ahead of the club just prior to the point of contact is what propels the ball.

Head Anchors Body
Some professionals have a tendency to over-emphasize the intricacies of the swing. One important and fundamental factor, especially with beginners, is moving the head.

Next in the grip, the stance is the most important part of golf. Essentially the stance is the same for every club. It varies with the pitch of the iron and the length of the shaft.

Graham Loses To Orville Brown Winner Would Get $89,600 At Ky. Derby

Orville Brown, Wallace, Kansas, following results of last Wednesday night's wrestling remains champion having beat Roy Graham, Dallas, Texas, in a "fluke" fall. The fans were brought to their feet when Referee Jack Hader went sailing through the ropes to the concrete floor after Graham dodged a butting affair from Brown who ran into Hader instead.

With Hader out of the ring the Red Phantom went to the ring to try and stop the match and ended up referring the final fall and taking a knocking around from Graham. When Graham roughed up Brown and the Phantom, the Phantom tried to break the two wrestlers and pulled Graham back with Brown rushing in slugging him and then falling upon Graham for the fall. Time eight minutes and two seconds.

It was a thriller and the fans went home happy. The first fall went to Graham in 11 minutes and 43 seconds, after landing two rights to Browns jaw and knocking him to the mat and getting a smother. The second fall started off with a bung each wrestler, ready before the bell sounded and Brown slugged it out with the Texas cowboy finally winning with a upper cut and a smother. Time of the fall four minutes and 47 seconds.

The opening event, between Dean Dutton Compton, California, and Jimmy Coffield, Kansas City, went to a draw. This match provided a lot of excitement from start to finish.

In the semi-final Danny O'Connor, Boston, Mass., beat the Red Phantom for the first fall in 16 minutes and 34 seconds after he knocked the Phantom around by bounding off the ropes and using a smother. The second fall went to the Phantom who used his famous neck twister and bounced him around on the hard canvass for four minutes and 43 seconds. The final fall came up after the Phantom used his neck twister about five different times. It took three minutes and 54 seconds before O'Connor finally gave in.

Others in the race are Green-tree Stables Capot and Wire Lark. A. J. Kinard, Jr.'s John Jones, Woodvale Farm's Halt, Lador Bierber's Palestinean, Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Model Cadet, Loxbrook Stables Lexington, J. W. Seley's Duplicate and Afton Villa Farm's Jacko Town. The final decision on A. P. Cotter's Percy, Cotter and J. A. Goodwin's Ky. Colonel is expected to be made today.

With a dozen horses facing the starter Saturday, the race would gross $117,650. The winner would collect $89,600, third placed purse in Derby history. Assault got $92,000 in 1946 and Jet Pilot $92,600 a year later.

Meantime, Derbytowners are sweltering in 83-degree temperatures for a day of sunning for the gala racing show.

In Defense Of Infants

By Cynthia Lowry
AP Newsfeature Writer

With a sharp eye on "Baby Week," it might be a good idea to suggest that infants are future people and, therefore, have certain rights.

Parents, grandparents and admiring friends have a tendency to take advantage of these helpless creatures. They evolve fantastic names for them, which the children subsequently are not and do anything about. One sure thing is to go to sleep on their cute nicknames. Frequently, parents call children by nicknames which dog and infants through to senility.

They take pictures of children in poses which embarrass them all through life, particularly if the infants grow up to be famous or notorious. And they talk baby talk to them.

In the event I were a member of the Committee on Babies Rights, my suggestion is: I'm now ready to recommend a rule that babies be given a temporary name. At a certain age, the individual would be given a chance to take a name of his own. If he heard and decided that he would be tagged for the rest of his life.

I could imagine harsh punishment on parents who incorrectly name their first male child "Bobby." It really seems very strange to see a proud parent of a boy who wasn't fondly named "Bobby."

Little girls should be equally well protected from parents who give them boys' names. I can remember a girl named "Christy" who was going to be called "Dad" and "Dad" of that one by the time she was dating.

I would also make rules against family names, except maybe an occasional "Junior," if no one called him by that alone. In my own family, which runs to family names, we have a grandmother, daughter and grandchild all named "Frances." As far back as I can remember there has been "Big Pats," "Little Pats," and when the baby came along it was impossible to call her "Little Pats" so they had to evolve a nickname. And that has turned out to be "Pat."

A series of "Johns" which has resulted in a six-foot-two young man who drives a golf ball thousands of yards and has been out of college for years, and still is called "Little John."

Quintessentially, I would suppress pictures of nude children on or off bear rugs. It may seem silly at the time to pose Willie in the bathtub, maybe carrying a load of sand. But it will mean him a million years when he's grown up and his best girl sues him in the album when he's an impressive 34. And he'll turn blue with sheer fury when it turns up in a national magazine two years later.

Planning to run for president? The committee would insist that baby pictures depict babies gathered for play or sleep and looking dignified.

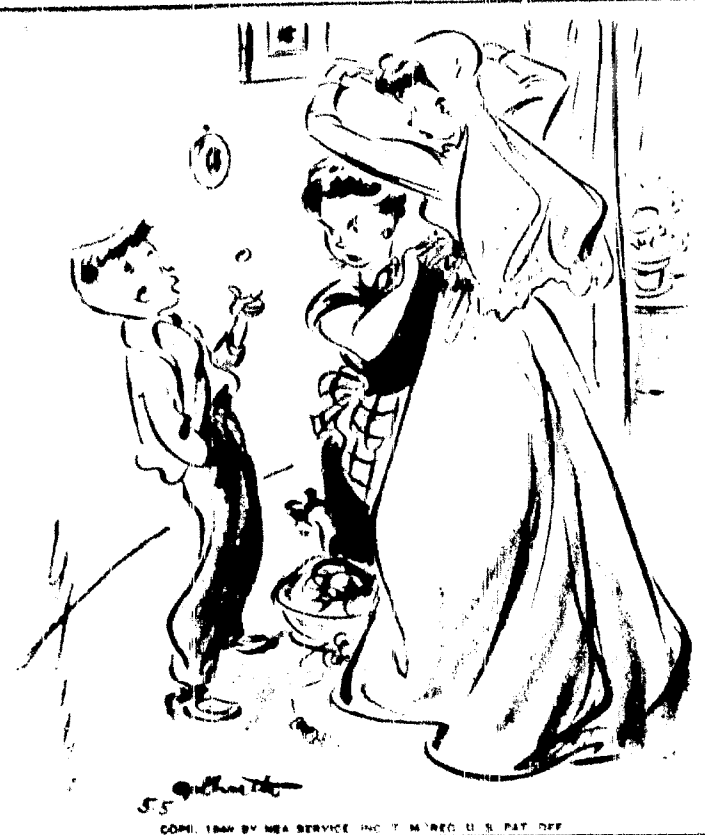

Baby-talk, of course, would be outlawed. I suppose it really doesn't do much more than make children bored, but it certainly makes adults of their elders.

Children should grow up admiring their elders, because they will be elders themselves some day. The committee would preserve baby-talk for barndogs and kittens who can't understand it, either.

In the interests of children's welfare, parents undoubtedly should be made to protect those adults who can take children or leave them alone. That will prevent the formation of an Anti-Children's Committee in this highly organized world.

As things stand, any adult who can't tolerate a child of being regarded as an inhuman fiend.

Committee on Babies' Rights would insist that fathers with canards, cameras and a wallet full of snapshots loiter and wait in their hip pockets except when

"Dad says Mom's relatives are a cinch to pop in on us after you're married—but I'll bet a quarter some of his win the race for your old room!"

was called on to give an article on his subject. The meeting was adjourned late in the afternoon to meet the last Wednesday in May with Mrs. Virgil Quint at Smithton.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Smith of Windsor, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Martin. The Martin family and Smith family were formerly neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Dickson of Kansas City spent the week-end here with Mrs. Dickson's mother, Mrs. Susie Todd.

it is necessary to extract money therefrom. Only grandparents enjoy exclaiming over pictures of other people's babies.

Mothers of young children would be required to limit their visits to non-baby houses to 30 minutes. This will make for better human relations the world over.

When two parents of young children are in the company of non-baby adults, the conversation should be permitted to touch on non-baby subjects once or twice in the course of the session, and diaper-conversation during bridge sessions should be limited to the usual post-mortem period between hands.

Pretty Valances Are Easy to Make

Tailored valances such as these are smart, easy-to-make frames for windows. For flower-sprigged valance (left), plate serves as guide for outlining half-circle scallops along edge (inset left). Elastic, slipped through pocket along back of valance, is thumb-tacked to narrow wood frame (inset center) to hold fabric taut. Heavier plaid cotton valance with padded edge (right) is nailed to frame.

Want to frame your windows for spring with the kind of full-dress valances which decorators use?

You can, and at little expense, says Kay Hardy, author of "How to Make Your Own Draperies." This expert, who knows all the short cuts, will guide your hand in making straight, tailored valances with a professional-looking padded or scalloped edge. For these, she says, a yard or two of fabric and only the skill of an amateur are needed.

To duplicate a new valance with old draperies, choose a fabric that picks up the color of drapery material. One expert suggests taping a patterned fabric with solid color curtains or the reverse.

The board to which finished valance is attached need be nothing more elaborate than a narrow wood frame which a husband-handyman can make. As effective says Miss Hardy, is a shelf set on brackets, supports placed at each side of the window frame.

To make valance, measure the length and sides of valance board, allowing an extra inch at each end for hems. Proportion your valance width to the height of your window—wide valances for tall windows, narrow valances for low windows. Cutting a paper pattern to follow when you slip out the fabric is advised. Using the same pattern to cut out a lining from cotton or seersucker to give valance more body is also advised.

To outline even half-circle scallops on fabric, Miss Hardy suggests using a plate as your guide and drawing around the edge with a soft lead pencil. If you want to finish your valance with a puffy, padded edge, Miss Hardy says to wrap a strip of fabric about five inches wide around a narrow roll of cotton batting. Next, pull the raw edges together evenly and pin between the turned-under edges of valance and valance lining. Now, stitch the four thicknesses of fabric together and it's ready to hang. To attach finished valance to

Short Ribs of Beef with Macaroni

TENDER brown short ribs give a rich meaty flavor to a platter of good durum macaroni and tomatoes.

Perfect to satisfy hearty out-of-doors appetites, this tempting top-of-the-range dish is so easy to make there will be time for Mrs. Homemaker to get out and enjoy the sun, too. The short ribs are first browned in a heavy skillet. Then the tomatoes and seasonings are added and the pan is covered. After the ribs have simmered about 45 minutes the macaroni goes in and the dish cooks about 20 minutes longer.

Short Ribs of Beef with Macaroni will appeal to the food budget as much as it does to the palate. Thrifty durum macaroni gets the credit for extending and blending the good meat and tomato flavors. The macaroni also adds its own important protein to that of the meat. Add to this protein the vitamins and minerals of tomatoes and you can see that this dish ranks high in health-giving and satisfying qualities.

Serve this main dish steaming hot with a side dish of whole green beans and a crisp tossed salad. Crunchy hard rolls with butter or margarine complete the easy menu.
